

The order of putting on woman's Hanbok

1. After putting on beoseon(Korean socks), put on underpants(When putting on beoseon, you should make sure that the seam should be leaning towards the center. Put out both sides so that right foot goes to the right side and the left foot goes to the left side.).
2. Put on a underskirt(Lower it down a bit so that the breast is wrapped.).
3. The end of the skirt should be in the left side.
4. After putting on jeogori(Korean jacket), tie the inside tie-string and then the outside tie-string.
5. In order to prevent the shoulder line from falling behind, attach the collar to the back of the neck and then adjust the front jeogori in the shape of vest.
6. When putting on shoes, the length of skirt is adjusted.

What to remember when putting on Hanbok

1. The pocket of underpants should come front side.
2. When putting on underskirt and skirt, they should be lower down a bit(in order to wrap the breast).
3. In order to prevent the shoulder line of jeogori from falling back, pull it towards the front side, and then fold it in the shape of vest.

How to tie (goreum)strings

1. After putting on jeogori, raise up the short string on the right side.
2. After putting the short string underneath the long string, wind it up and then take it out.

3. After making the half-ribbon shape with the long string on the bottom, put down the short string.

4. As holding the long string with the left hand, put the short string underneath and then take it out upwards with the right hand.

5. Adjust the shape by lightly pulling them up and down.